Recovers As Husband

Races to Hospital

RAN COMFORT HER

"I WANT TO LIVE," CRIES DIVA
Raoul Querre, 26-year-old tenor, comforted his wife at City Hospital. Lydia Lindgren has cast aside any desire to die and says that she drank two ounces of poison at the Copley Plaza after she had cried for hours.

GIVING THE AMERICAN HER STORY

A LITTLE FAMILY REUNION
Exchanging expressions of love, Lydia Lindgren and her singing husband, Raoul Querre, spent many happy hours at City Hospital. Tosca Querre, Raoul's sister, came to Boston with the tenor.

Don't's State James Morris, hastened to answer Morley's signal. To launch a whaleboat was impossible in the mountainous surf. The breeches buoy gun was hauled into position and while the schooner's crew hung in her rigging like flies the first line was shot across the water. The line landed and made fast and the first sailor slipped into the buoy and was hauled across. He was almost frozen from the exposure.

John Ruane, the first man brought ashore, was rushed to the Coast Guard station and given first aid while the beach men were pulling the next sailor over the line. By that time the men in the schooner's rigging were crying for speed. Above the howling of wind and surf their voices came to the Coast Guard crew working the end on the beach.

The next man got into the buoy and was hauled through the surf to the beach. He, too, was rushed to the station for first aid. Finally the schooner's master, with all his crew safely on the beach, got into the breeches and with his life navigation instruments under his arm was pulled up on the beach. He was suffering from fatigue and exposure. He is Burnham Tower of Albert, N. H.

The other rescued men were James Brown, Albert Dunning, Irving Tower, James McCarthy, Louis E. White and John Ruane. According to her master, the vessel was bound from Albert, N. H., to City Island, N. Y. She ran into difficulty in the storm along the coast and left her master.

Sails were kept on her to keep her running before the wind, but

St. John, N. F., Dec. 7 (A.P.)—Eight lives were lost when the schooner Ella M. Rudolph was driven ashore at Brook Cove, near Chatham, during the height of a storm last night.

Duke Blackwood, a son of the owner of the vessel, managed to reach shore today, walking to Chatham to give the details of the disaster.

USELESS SHIP SWEEP BY BIG WAVES IS IN GRAVE DANGER
St. John, N. F., Dec. 7 (A.P.)—The steamer Hibernia, with her bunkers empty and all her movable workwood used as fuel, was wallowing today in tremendous seas about 25 miles northeast of here, according to word from the Dominion River Tremble, which reported she was standing by. The tug Ocean Eagle left with a supply of coal in an endeavor to reach the stricken vessel.

SENATE TO TAKE UP 20 IMMIGRATION BILLS
Washington, Dec. 7 (A.P.)—The Senate Immigration Committee had been called by Chairman Johnson to meet Thursday to begin consideration of 20 pending bills, including a measure providing for application of the quota provisions of the immigration law to Mexico, Canada, and other countries of North, Central and South America.

RUTGERS PAPER CUTS OUT REFERENCE TO HALL CASE

New Brunswick, N. J., Dec. 7 (A.P.)—On suggestion of Dr. Fraser McGraw, dean of men at Rutgers University, editors of Chaucerian, undergraduate humorist publication, today deleted all references to the Hall-Julia case, which were to appear in tomorrow's issue of the magazine.

DOHENY SICK; TRIAL HALTED

Washington, Dec. 7 (A.P.)—The trial for the worse in the condition of Edward L. Doheny today halted his trial here on a charge of conspiring with Albert B. Fall in the leasing of the Elk Hills oil reserve. The 76-year-old oil magnate, who has been suffering for a week with an infected arm and a second landing operation was performed. His physician ordered him to remain in bed at least for today, but said that by tomorrow or Thursday the patient should be in condition to again appear in court.

Upon presentation of a physician's certificate at the outset of today's session, Justice Hoehling adjourned the trial until such time as Mr. Doheny should be able to resume his place in the courtroom. Should the illness continue, Justice Hoehling plans to examine the law on the point whether the trial might be resumed without the presence of one of the defendants.

$150,000 Passalo Fire
Passalo, N. J., Dec. 7 (A.P.)—The Passalo Theatre and five other buildings in the heart of the business district of Passalo were destroyed early today by fire that threatened the entire business district. Damage was estimated at $150,000.

actually performing the illegal surgery. Judge Gray explained there were five possible verdicts on the illegal surgery charge and two on the conspiracy indictment.

NEED NOT TESTIFY
The jury should not weigh as against the defendant, his failure to take the witness stand," he said. "As regards the conspiracy indictment, the first of a conspiracy is an unlawful combination or a combination for unlawful ends. It is unnecessary for the government to prove that anything resulted from the combination; it is only necessary to prove in the present case that Dr. Walsh and Ford or someone else unlawfully conspired."

"Such a combination might be proved by direct or by circumstantial evidence. In this case you have direct evidence from the witness, Ford, that he and Dr. Walsh entered into an agreement to accomplish an illegal act on the body of Edith Greve."

"It is not necessary for the government to implicate anybody else but Ford and Dr. Walsh. If you are satisfied that you got the truth from Ford on the witness stand, you must return a verdict of guilty."

DR. LEARY'S TESTIMONY
"As regards the illegal surgery indictment, in this particular instance the government confines itself to that part of the statute which involves use of an instrument."

"You have the medical testimony of Dr. Leary. Dr. Leary was confined to medical testimony, but you have the whole chain of circumstances and must consider them in entirety and be swayed by the combined effect of all the facts."

United in Death
Abington, Ill., Dec. 7 (A.P.)—P. H. Rafferty, 31, a Civil War veteran, died at his home today. He was 75, died 13 minutes later when she was informed of his death.

BLAINE TO HEAD FIDELITY TRUST

James G. Blaine, III, grandson of Maine's great deceased statesman, who was known as "The Plumed Knight," is scheduled to receive one of the best Christmas gifts on the Santa Claus schedule in New York.

Young Blaine is to be elected to the presidency of the Fidelity Trust Co. of New York, according to announcement made by President Conover. Mr. Conover will become executive chairman of the board.

Mr. Blaine is now vice-president of the New York Trust Company. Back in 1906 Blaine made his debut in New York financial circles as a night clerk at $4 a week. At the time he declared he had rather be a politician than a banker.

In 1911 he was married to Marion B. Dow of Marlboro street, Rock Bay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Dow.

The same year he established legal residence in Providence, R. I., and in 1914 was elected a member of the Providence City Council.

PLAN NEW PARIS TO U. S. FLIGHT

GENERAL NEWS SECTION

WOMAN ABLAZE HUSBAND NAPS

Her clothing ablaze from a stove that fell apart in the kitchen of her home and her cries of agony sounding on the deaf ears of her sleeping husband, Mrs. Margaret Donovan of No. 10 Vine street, Charlestown, ran from the house, a flaming torch, two neighbors home and from there she was taken to the Haymarket Relief Hospital, where she is dying of burns.

Running from her home, she fell into the arms of Edward Rosenberg, manager of a nearby store. He threw his arms about her in an effort to extinguish the flames. He then assisted her to the home of Mrs. Nellie Barry at No. 6 Vine street. Her clothing was burned from her body. Mrs. Barry applied sweet oil to the burns while Rosenberg called for an ambulance.

Police said that John Donovan, the woman's husband, slept through the experience and did not know it until she was being taken to the hospital.

HOURLY PARKING ON HANOVER ST.

The street commissioners today amended the parking rule allowing a large part of Hanover street which has been under a stringent parking regulation. Protests from retail merchants in the district to the board caused the street board to extend the parking time to one hour.

As the street is 89 feet wide the board feels that traffic will not be hindered by the change.

CUTTERS CLEAR
LAKE SHIPS IN ICE FIELDS

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 7 (A.P.)—With ice vessels liberally from the upper section of the St. Mary's river channel, where more than forty feet of lake ice were held fast to the toward river now passed, cutters today were slowly clearing a lane down river through which it is hoped to eventually free the water unobstructed.

With good luck, the cutter-headed by the government boat, should be able to free more of the ships under the head of the channel today, according to Alton C. Wessing, manager of the Great Lakes Wrecking Company, in charge of rescue operations.

The favorable turn in the situation that slight late ice officials to express an opinion that the group held in the upper channel may be freed by the end of the week.

Officials were more optimistic regarding the prospects of the down-bound fleet of more than seventy ships held in the lower channel.

A steel government cutter assisting the cutter "Moose," disabled down river, having sustained a slight damaged, were and a few other ships held in the lower channel, she will attempt to make port here for repairs.

Is There, Too

Although a defendant in the $100,000 suit, brought by the United States Government, charging fraud, connected with the sale of the Beach-Macgregor-Caproni-Bell-Hornblower, member of the brokerage firm of Hornblower & Wright, was today appointed foreman of the December Federal Grand Jury, Judge Lowell in Federal District Court.

Called to serve on the same panel was Frederick Caproni, Church, Jr., husband of Mrs. Hornblower.

There was absolutely no truth in the rumor that Captain Hornblower was Ed Bullock's child, James M. Bullock, Jr., counsel for Mrs. Church, read from the deposition of Mrs. Just Gordon of St. Louis, Mo., in Mrs. Church's hearing to establish her claim to the millions of the late Louis Christian, before Judge Pratt in Suffolk Probate Court today.

Mrs. Church asserts she is the daughter of the famed aviator and brother, Jack Christian, that she was adopted by him when only three years old, that later she was adopted by his business partner, Ed Bullock, and spent her early childhood with her stepfather's sister.

Mrs. Gordon, Ed Bullock's niece, further deposed that little Carolyn was taken to their home in Hingham when about six and remained with them until she was ten.

"We played together as children," Mrs. Gordon continued. "We went to the Central public school together. Mother told me the story of her coming to our house and told me I should be good to her. She was particularly sweet."

"We were like father and son," she said. "I was a child and she was a child."

"She went back to 10th grade because mother was poor in health and couldn't further undertake her education. Her return had nothing to do with the rumor of with Ed Bullock's behavior."

"Mother knew that when I grew older the rumor would come to me and she would not want me to be able to do so much as to make me through to understand there was no truth in it."

COURT UNTRIES
OCTOBER AND JUNE PAIR

An October and June romance came to the bitter end in Middlesex Probate Court today when Mary C. Carr, formerly 35-year-old Everett woman, was sent a divorce from Henry P. Carr, former Lowell Daily Commonwealth Star also was custody of two minor children.

The couple were married in 1917, and at that time, according to Mrs. Carr, her husband deceived her about his age, telling her he was only 15 years older than herself.

Mrs. Carr told of having been beaten and choked by her husband and threatened when she was ill.

Carr denied the cruelty charges and told the court he thought the trouble with the marriage was "not really marriage."

Mrs. Carr, who was also a witness, during cross-examination, Mrs. Carr testified that she was twice, as by the court, Carr conspired to give one child over to a home.

She had received a separate support decree in 1915, with custody of one child, Francis, now nine years old, the time was awarded to her $15 a week. In the decree she also received the custody of the other minor child, Mary, seven, and the award of $15 a week.

INDUCT GIRL
GANG PLOT TO FREE 'JERRY'

Convicted Goddard, sister of "Jerry the Pole," awaiting sentence for murder, who tried to smuggle an automatic pistol to her brother's cell in East Cambridge Jail, in a case charged, was indicted today by the Middlesex grand jury.

The indictment charges her with receiving a pistol into East Cambridge Jail for the purpose of aiding the escape of a prisoner held for the murder of William A. Burns.

She was taken from the jail, where she was taken shortly after her brother was sent to Charlestown, and arraigned before Judge William A. Burns.

She pleaded not guilty to the indictment and was set for trial for the murder of Edward Burns, bank manager of the Ward Building Company, is counsel for the girl.

Confessing hidden in a rented rooming house, an automatic pistol was found in the rooming house at the East Cambridge Jail. It had been left by Jerry Goddard, Assistant District Attorney. Burns immediately asked the court to send Goddard to the State prison at Charlestown for safekeeping.

Goddard, who was in custody, visited the girl at her home in Jamaica Plain.

He is a graduate of Harvard University, where he served as correspondent for a Boston newspaper. He joined the firm of J. P. Moran & Sons, brokers, and today he is their New York representative.

COOLIDGE RECEIVES HIS FORMER SECRETARY, LONG

Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long is a guest today of President Coolidge at the White House. When Coolidge was governor, Long was his secretary.

Although the reason for the commission's visit could not be ascertained, it is known that conversations and business interviews are expected to be the order of the day. Long, together with a dozen other State officials, Long's term expired last Sunday.

JUGOSLAVIA CABINET
RESIGNS IN PROTEST

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, Dec. 7 (A.P.)—Jugoslavia's Cabinet, headed by Nikola Stojadinovic, resigned today in direct protest of the signature of the recent Vardar-Albanian Treaty, which is looked upon here as violating the rights of the Albanians.

Former Minister Nitchich is quoted in the press as saying that the Cabinet's resignation was planned for the purpose of calling the attention of all Europeans to the "new and grave situation."

DEFENSE OPENED IN
$500,000 BALM CASE

Pittsburgh, Dec. 7 (A.P.)—The defense in the $500,000 breach of promise suit of Miss Anna Caldwell, wealthy manufacturer, opened its case in Federal Court today by producing testimony in an effort to show that no engagement existed between the defendant and the plaintiff.

P. V. Babcock, commissioner of Allegheny County, a close friend of Caldwell, testified that Caldwell had introduced Miss Caldwell to him as his intended bride. Miss Caldwell claims she accepted Hubbard's proposal of marriage early in 1922, and in 1924 he told her he would not marry her.

PETTICOAT MAKER NOT ABLE TO PAY ALIMONY

Torrey City, N. J., Dec. 7 (A.P.)—Women no longer wear petticoats, as Herman Margolin, a former petticoat cutter, is having trouble paying alimony to his wife, Anna, who is suing him for divorce.

Mrs. Margolin told Vice-Chancellor Lewis, before whom her husband was cited for contempt, that Margolin could well afford to pay the $200 balance due her, and that she resented the intimation that fashion's swing toward flimsier attire was responsible for his financial failure. She said she did not intend to wait for her alimony until petticoats come back.

FRENCH PUBLIC DEBTS NOW
TOTAL 271 BILLION FRANCS

Paris, Dec. 7 (U.S.A.)—The French public debt now totals 271,000,000,000 francs—approximately one-half of the country's total resources.

Premier Poincaré announced in the Chamber of Deputies today that a Communist interrupted the Premier, who was speaking on the budget, to announce about French debt.

"Whatever decision the Chamber makes, we are prepared to make payments due to the United States and England next year," said the Premier.

COAST GUARD
WITNESSES
TRIPPED UP

Under cross-examination by Attorney H. H. Lewis, Boston's Male Edward W. Taylor, one of the prominent witnesses at the Charlestown Navy Yard court-martial of Bostonian Robert E. Taylor, today made several statements conflicting with his testimony of yesterday.

He declared he did not see Taylor, commanding officer of the Patrol Boat 120, receive money from the master of the steamboat Fog II, an alleged ship leak, and recanted a previous statement in which he said he witnessed the transfer of money from the ship runner Tim Alois to the Fog II.

Taylor admitted after a severe grilling that he lived at the Boston hotel while officials were conducting an investigation into the alleged collusion of coast guard officers and ship runners. Arnold Buss, a treasury agent, paid his hotel bill, he said. It was at the hotel that he was shown a statement signed by "Haggy" Wilson, the mystery assailant, which contained testimony damaging to Taylor and his relations with the master of the Fog II.

Dreams of Skeleton Until He Goes and Finds It's There

Lebanon, Pa., Dec. 7 (A.P.)—Dennis Jones, 37, of Lebanon, Pa., who dreamed that he would find a skeleton in his cellar, today found it.

"I dreamed it was there," said Jones, "and I found it today. It was a skeleton of a man who had been in the cellar for some time. I found it in the cellar of my house. I found it in the cellar of my house. I found it in the cellar of my house."

The skeleton is complete and appears to be that of a woman.

TAUNTON WIDOW BRIDE

OF NAVY MAN IN WEST
New Bedford, Dec. 1 (A.P.)—Edw. J. Cook, No. 8 Elliot place, Taunton, today confirmed the news that his daughter, the widow of Mr. Hall by a little more than seven months. Mr. Hall died March 30. The widow returned to the home of her parents in Taunton and there it is said received an old romance with a former resident.

DEMOCRATS TO KEEP CRYING 'CORRUPTION'

Washington, Dec. 1 (U.S.A.)—Threatening to keep the issue of election corruption alive until the 1928 Presidential campaign, Democratic leaders of the Senate were prepared today to force immediate action on the Walsh resolution authorizing an investigation of charges that Senator Arthur R. Gould, Jr. of Maine, was involved in a $100,000 bribery case.

The inquiry will not be opposed by Republican leaders. It was learned, as the resolution does not provide for indicting a Senator, that the Senate will not act on the matter until the next year.

By such a maneuver, the Democrats would debate the Gould case in the more a Democratic program for leaving the issue of election corruption constantly before the American people for the next two years.

United States Senator Rice W. Means of Colorado, national commander of the Spanish War Veterans, will be the principal speaker at the annual convention of the Massachusetts Department, Naval and Military Order of the Spanish War Veterans, tomorrow night at the army of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in Faneuil Hall. Senator Means, earlier this year, will be the luncheon speaker of Mayor Nichols at the Hotel Leland.

Woman Autoist Is Fined for Wrapping Feet in Blankets

Lawrence, Dec. 1.—Mrs. Malvina Dutton of Gardner was fined $15 by Judge Ralph W. Robbins in the District Court for operating without a license and $25 for having her feet wrapped in a blanket in such a manner as to interfere with proper use of the brakes.

The defendant entered into an appeal but when she was unable to apply the brakes because her feet were entangled in a blanket.

DRAG POOL FOR AUTHORESS

Quincy, Mass., Dec. 1 (A.P.)—While search for the missing American novelist, Agatha Christie, continues throughout England and even on the continent, the local police are searching under "Mist Pool," which legend says is bottomless.

The pool is not far from the spot where Mrs. Christie's car was found Sunday night. She left her home in Southfield alone in the car late Friday night.

Ordnance or long ropes are being dragged through the murky waters of the pool, the operations continuing day and night.

"Mist Pool" is the center of numerous legends, one to the effect that King John imprisoned a girl there. Another that the girl threw herself in the pond and was drowned, her body never being recovered.

The King's story is feather in the bank before passing on his way, the tale continues, and this in time grew into the great hollowing which borders the pool.

Mrs. Christie used this notion as the locale of several stories, one in particular, featuring "Mist Pool" as a body of water of fascinating mystery.

FIRE LOSS $325,000 IN ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 1 (U.S.A.)—Fire, which for a time threatened the heart of the business section here today, destroyed several buildings on a block facing the Genesee river, with a loss of $325,000.

Large quantities of inflammable and chemical stores in one of the buildings, evidently hampered the work of firemen.

MOTHER: here's welcome news on the "sweets" problem.

Give the children all they want of delicious fig bars

AUTHORITIES they're pure and wholesome tell us that fig bars are rich in nourishment. Even richer than prunes or raisins in iron and calcium—those very important body requirements.

Because most mothers know this, they constantly keep a pound or two of fig bars on hand. Fig bars, especially Crispes, are nutritious figs in a most delicious form.

Let the youngsters have all they want. Crispo fig bars are wholesome and corrective.

They are simply munchy, golden full of delicious, meaty figs. These figs are of extra selected qualities, for only the best of ingredients go into Crispes.

Mother, get two pounds at your grocer's today. The children will give them hearty welcome—and the older folks too. Sawyer Biscuit Company, Inc., New York, bakers of over 60 varieties of plain and fancy biscuits.

Always Fresh!

Crispo Fig Bars are not sold in packages. You will find them displayed in the big box on counters everywhere. We keep down the packaging cost and give you the saving. That is why Crispo cost you less, although their purity and quality are of the highest.

JANE COWL IS
KEITH'S

This seems to be the year for legitimate stage and screen stars to make their debut in vaudeville. Some of them have done well, some fairly well, and some not at all. But in all of the successes and failures there were a lot of them—nobody made a bigger hit in variety than Jane Cowell at B. F. Keith's last night.

Assisted by an excellent comedy team, Miss Cowell sang and danced with all her splendor to the delight of the audience. Let "The Clock" be a cleve-

Jane Cowell

Clara Berry, with Orval Whitman in "Just a While" made a hit with their comedy. Gaston and Andreé Parisian dancers, were also to be listed among the "comers-out." They too, were making their debut on the American vaudeville stage.

Ed Hickey and his brother Tom Hickey, who was the head of the class almost stopped the show. At the same time, Henry Regal and his wife, who were on the show, scored heavily.

Earl Faber and Marge McIntyre had a smart comely sketch; the Stuart Girls, singing in harmony; Wilfred DuBois, juggler, and Canoness and her boys, who completed a very entertaining juggler.

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old "GRUMPY" WALLACK, head of the Wallack factory in Roxbury.

Everybody at the factory likes Honey Lou, from the office vamp, ANN LUDLOW, to JOE MEADOWS, the shipping clerk. But Honey Lou is afraid of Joe Meadows.

JACK WALLACK, son and heir of old "Grumpy," starts to work at the factory. He falls in love with Honey Lou, and she does with him. But when he tries to kiss her, she flies into a rage and slaps his face. Later he apologizes.

One night, when Honey Lou and Jack are leaving the office, they meet ANGELA ALLEN, Jack's childhood friend. Honey Lou is sure that Angela is in love with Jack.

Angela invites Honey Lou to dinner at her home on the night of Jack's birthday.

Jack meets Honey Lou's gentle well-bred mother and her half-sister, MARGRET MOODY, and realizes that she has been treated as carefully as any of the girls of his own world.

MRS. HUNTLEY, Honey Lou's mother, makes a quaint, swazy dress for her to wear to the party. Honey Lou sees Angela in a plain dress and realizes she is overdressed and queer looking.

Angela persuades her to take two cocktails, telling her that they are fruit juice. Honey Lou drinks them and, overcome by the liquor and the heat and the excitement, faints dead away. And so she does not hear the saintly Angela tell Jack Wallack that she took seven or eight drinks, calling her "hard-boiled."
